“ My brother or "Carnal" as we referred to each other was the greatest big brother I could have ever asked for. He loved me, never judged me. He encouraged me, never discouraged me. He served by my side for the last 15 years and I will forever be grateful to God and to my "Carnal" for all the Love, Wisdom, & Time he poured into my life. Live in Peace my Carnalito! Love you forever!!!

GP

It's now February 4th Carnal and it's our Daddy's birthday, but it's also one month shy of your five year departure from this earth to Heaven. I'd lie if I didn't admit that it's still not easy to accept, but I also rejoice in knowing you're where we all plan to be when our time comes. I miss you greatly and I wish you were here to grow old with my kids, but I believe God's ways are forever greater than our own. Love and miss you Carnal.

It's a new year Carnal and I'm expecting 2025 to be our greatest yet. Once again you were missed this Christmas Season, but I know you're celebrating with the guest of Honor, Jesus Christ. It's still never easy to go on without my Carnal, but I know I have a mission to complete here for now. Love and miss you Carnal. 🎄❤️100

Happy 8th Birthday in Heaven Carnal. It's been a long 8 years not having you with us to celebrate as a family. Some days more difficult than others, but still tolerable knowing the separation I temporary. Until we meet again mi Carnal! 🎂🕯️👍

It's now December Carnal and it's been 9 Christmas Seasons without you. It's doesn't get easier regardless of what anyone says, but I place my Hope in the One who you're now celebrating with, Jesus Christ. I miss your just as much as I did the first Christmas season without you, but I hold on to your memories and our moments together. Love you Carnal. ❤️👍🎄🎅
