“ Dad was a very big jokester. He and I were always working under the hood of someones car. As I was buried under someones hood one day, deep in thought as to the problem, he snuck up behind me and goosed me causing me to jump up and bang my head on the open hood. I turned around and found him laughing with the old grandpa laugh we all knew from Grandpa Harry. I would be soon laughing with him saying, oh dad!
