“ My condolences to his family. I was Carlos Science teacher his freshman year. He was a funny, bright young man and made me laugh. These are photos of him working on a lab in my class. I thought his family would like to have them. Rest In Peace Carlos.

“ He was only 18 years old, but the love he gave filled every room he walked into. He had a heart that loved loudly and deeply. His bright, unforgettable smile could light up a space in an instant, and his silly, magnetic personality had a way of weaving itself into any conversation — bringing laughter, energy, and pure charisma wherever he went.

Music moved him. It was one of the ways he expressed his emotions and connected with the world. As a member of his high school cross country team, he showed determination, strength, and perseverance — always pushing forward, always giving his best.

Most recently, he stepped into a new and beautiful role — becoming a father. His girlfriend, Cherish, and their baby boy, Caiden, were part of his heart and his story. Though his time here was far too short, the love he had for them and the love surrounding them now will continue to carry his legacy forward.

He will always be remembered for his big heart, his radiant smile, his playful spirit, and the way he made others feel seen, included, and loved.

"he made others feel seen, included, and loved".

If we "saw" him. you all would have known the boy in this picture hated this day. Called this wedding stupid. Please stop sharing photos of this day... as that family is the one who ruined and disowned him after "he chose to live with his dad".

“ Mijo, I will never forget your beautiful smile and infectious energy. How kind you were and what a positive joyful human you were to be around. Always making sure everyone around you was “okay”. Getting to know you and see you around campus was such an honor. I’m grateful for the memories we shared. The kids, Louie and I, love you and will miss you tremendously.

“ IV always had a smile on his face when he saw us. He would share laughs and good music with me and my family. I remember him and my oldest daughter Ruth sharing a pair of airpods and dancing to a song together, it made me so happy!! Him and his brother Jude were inseparable. -
