“ As a young mother I happen to know it is hard to give life being only 15yrs old..... Together my child and I held hand and learning as we lived life..... Esther, Chris, Ralph and I, together the four of us learned, the Lord had this in plan, for we did not meet just by chance..

I saw Chris to be the strongest child from all the others around, It was he that made my child smile turn up side down, It was Chris that helped my son with encouragement words, he helped him to fight those bullies that tried to pick on the weak, For without him my son my not today be known as a Marine.... I remember days from which they simply played from morning until dark... we all in time just drifted apart... however we managed to keep in touch... my message is true friends are not found by luck...Chris I only hope that your peace had been found.... Life after death comes in the Heavens above we will see you again... but for now rest in peace until then...Chris was an Angel that helped lend a helping hand.... May God Bless you, Esther, Family and close friends Your son was one of the Best....

My husband was so loved by his sons and I. I am glad he instilled his values into clo and I see that everyday with clo. He is so polite and very loving and in his own words " strong like his daddy". He will be missed more than he could ever imagine. Until we see each other again my love, watch over us.

“ Chris as you can see your family truly loves you. Your Mom Esther and Dad Ronnie were a big part of your life as well as your children's lives. You will always be in our hearts. The good Lord knows everything and will continue to operate in your children lives. We will never let them forget you...God is going to take care of everything! He knows what will happen tomorrow and the next day and the next. He is in control of everything! Today we surrender you, your children, this tragedy and our emotions to Him...Now He has time to move on your behalf...Amen!
