“ I met Dave in 1990 when he asked for help with one of his many "projects". He quickly became a good friend. He was one of the nicest people I have had the pleasure to know. He was also a creative and successful businessman. I had the privilege to spend many lunches with him to talk about RAPSCO and his other business endeavors. I miss him but know he is in a better place. Thank you Dave for the time you gave to me.

“ I met Dave back when active selling some Fairchild Metro airliners. He had taken a late model Metro and converted it into a luxury aircraft fit for a King! We found a very particular individual who wanted it to take high roller "guests" to his Bahamian resort. After seeing the Metro a person would know right away Dave had a gift of envisioning great things and making them happen. All the while Dave was down to earth - loyal and considerate to his customers and friends. He is greatly missed and I look forward to the day we can talk again about his next project!

“ Dave once sneaked me over to some field of broken down stuff to show me a boat that he was restoring. I say sneaked because he wasn't quite ready to tell Connie about it "just yet." - LOL. The part he had completed was perfect. And he showed me his big plans for this small yacht which he was going to restore to better than new. It was clear that he knew exactly what he was doing. He was such a gifted artist/architect/mechanic, and his enthusiasm for this project was contagious.
And despite his many talents and success he was a very humble man. He was just a regular, friendly guy, so easy to hang around with and to talk to. Our neighborhood is a smaller place without him.
