“ It has been three years, one month and 30 days, 8 hours, and 55 minutes, since my love silently slipped out of my arms and away to meet her father in heaven. I tell her every day a minimum of 3 times a day how much I love her. She is waiting. I am waiting..until we are reunited again. Our love is never-ending even though we may be separated for this short time. Love for eternity is our end goal. Our temple marriage will keep us together forever.

Today, Saturday the 16th of October, I go to visit your grave, where your body lies. I will be meeting there with two ambassadors of our Father in heaven. Today will be a special day for me and for you Deb. My love for you is unwavering and steadfast for ever. Although we are apart, our hearts will never be seperated. Yours is the face I have longed for since I was a teenager.. yesterday...:) It may have taken me a lifetime to find you but I have eternity to look forward to, being with you.

I never go to sleep without telling you I love you. Time away from you has only made my love greater for you. We had good and bad times together, but you stuck it out with me when others could or would not. You are a REAR GEM. You are so very beautiful to me and the Love of my life. I thank Father daily for Him allowing me to find you among the millions and millions of people here on this earth. Our love is and will always be eternal. It is with joy that I anticipate being back together with you. I bide my time here, as it is Fathers will, but I look forward to Graduating this earthly existance to be with the one I love so much.

May Father keep and protect you until I can again arrive by your side.

Love, your Husband and friend... Charlie

“ Rest peacefully Debbie. We love and miss you greatly. Our sorrow in your passing is only lifted by knowing that you are reunited with Grandma Swensen, Dad, your mom (Addie), and Billie. Love, your brother Matt, Lynelle, and family.
