“ Our deepest condolences to the Vasaldua & Villarreal family. I have the fondest memories of when Lala would open her home & welcome me to have lunch when I worked near by her home. She had a good listening ear for how my day was going at work! I appreciated & cherished that time. She always made me feel welcomed. We will be praying for God’s peace, love and comfort to be with you during this time. Fela & Jerry Gomez

“ My Tia passed away early this morning. She will be the second one of the Villarreal siblings. My mother was the first about 30 years ago. My Tia Lala and her husband, Tio Eddie, took me in after we were taken from my mom for the last time. The whole family jumped in to give myself and my sister a home and kept us from being separated from the family and placed in the system. My Tia Lena and her husband took my sister in. Eventually, we were brought back together when my Uncle Joe and his wife took us in. He became who I call my dad today. I remember almost everything with all those transitions. From what I understand, another family member on the Mora side contacted my dad (Uncle Joe) and convinced him to adopt both of us. Before he came, my Tia took care of me. For that, I'm grateful. She will be missed. I'm grateful that we got to see her again before she got really sick. I want to remember her the way she was before she was sick. She's no longer in pain. Heaven has gained another angel.
