“ We are gathered here today to not only mourn but also give a beautiful testimony of Elizabeth Hernandez’s life, my mother, my best friend, and my rock and also here to celebrate her entering of eternal life with Our Savior Jesus Christ. During her time on earth she did undergo tribulations and obstacles as we all do but due to her persistence and faith in Our Lord and Savior she conquered all of them. She was a true fighter and fought till the end. There was a time when I came to her seeking advice like I always do and at that moment I was unsure about which path to take and also discouraged but she pulled me in close and said “if there is a way, there is a will.” Her faith was one that was untouched and inspirational. She was a loving mother who would beat all odds and would make a way when there seemed to be no way. During the years of her life she dedicated her unconditional love, support, and nurtured all of those around her. She played many important roles in life whether it was a mother, friend , sister, wife and daughter but the most valuable role was that she was a child of Christ the Messiah and she devoted the last years of her life serving and following him. Losing someone special and someone we love dearly is never easy , and it's not supposed to be but what we can hold onto of her is the laughter we shared, the memories we created and the love we experienced with her. As we wish we can speak and hold her one last time, know that she is with our graceful, merciful God in Heaven rejoicing and dancing. I know the road you walked was anything but easy but you are now dancing in the sky. You’ve fought your fight and your race is run, and your pain is all a million miles away. You no longer carry scars ,you are no longer in any pain , and you are no longer suffering. Our Savior is never late or early but always on time and he never fails. Her love surrounds all of us and whenever we feel lonely without her, remember she is always watching over us. - Cassandra Alvarez
