

Elvira Acosta Ramirez

April 17, 1929 - November 1, 2010

Elvira Acosta Ramirez, a native San Antonian, and loved mother and grandmother, passed on from this life on November 1st at the age of 81. She is now joined with her mother, father, four siblings, and the love of her life and high school sweetheart, Roland Ramirez. "Vera" as she was called by friends attended Fox Tech High school, was a member of the Alamo Heights Chapter as well as a past matron of Bethany Chapter Order of the Eastern Star and retired from USAA. In her time on earth she published a cookbook and was known for her outgoing spirit and love of food. She is survived by her daughter, Claudia Alvarez, grandchildren John, Sara, and James, and great-grandson Noah, as well as many friends and family members. She died in peace surrounded by her family. The family would like to extend grateful thanks to the staff of Cancer Care Centers of South Texas, Huebner Creek Health and Rehabilitation Center and the Alamo Hospice.

Tribute Wall

TM

“ My mother had Mrs. Ramirez's cookbook, Recetas De Doña Elvira A collection of dishes from Texas & Mexico copyright 1977. My mom was a 6th gen German Texas settler who loved Mexican food. She always made the best enchiladas, arroz, and tamales. Her se

Tammy Matthews - April 12, 2016 at 12:00 AM

LG

“ Vera was truly a fine woman and my dear friend. I will miss her and especially her contagious laughter. Not only was she a good friend, Vera was a wonderful cook. She introduced me to many new Mexican dishes. She especially loved cooking for her famil

Lavon Guesner - November 04, 2010 at 12:00 AM