“ Señor Solis/Grandpa/Jefe, Thank you for being the best suegro (father-in-law) to me for so many years. Thank you for always welcoming everyone into your home & always being in charge of planning so many good, happy, fun family events. Thank you for being a loving grandpa to both of my boys. It was an honor to name our first-born son after you. I was glad to be able to give that one gift to you. You told me two things that meant so much to me, I will never forget. Every couple has their ups & downs. It meant so much for you to tell me so many years ago., around 2001, that you did not want to lose me as your daughter-in-law. Secondly, I will never forget your kind words after our second son, David was born. You looked at the baby and then looked at me & told me, “He’s beautiful, Helen.” That meant the world to me. I am sorry and wish we could have come over much more when the boys were little. Their special needs made them sensitive to loud sounds & being around many people, which is essentially part of being a Solis: laughter & large, fun family gatherings. Thank you for all of the good times & precious moments to treasure forever. If Mijo ever has a son, I will do my best to see your name carries on to Emilio Solis, IV. Vala con Dios en el Cielo, Señor Solis/Jefe/Grandpa. We know you are in Heaven now watching down on all of us. You know Grandma will be taken care of by everyone. You were like a second father to me. Thank you! I love you, Helen

“ So many memories with my dad....

I remember I was able to stay up on a Friday night just us 2. We watched The Night Stocker he gave me a soda I could not tell my mom. Lol

Then movies on Saturday morning with all of us. After the movies we went to a place all you can eat hot dogs for .49¢ lol

Writing this down puts a smile on my face. 😊
