“ Dear Carroll Family,
I'm so sorry that I missed Eris' services. I didn't know she had passed away. She and I became pen pals and phone buddies about four years ago when I was helping the Robert E. Lee Class of 1964 find their classmates. Her son was in that class. We began talking and when she told me her maiden name and where she was born, I told her that I knew a lot about the histories of Uvalde and Bandera counties even though I was much younger, so we began corresponding and exchanging letters, articles, and stories. That made her happy as she said she had no one her age who remembered what she did or could relate to where she grew up. She led a very interesting childhood, and we knew many of the same families as my mother was from Vanderpool. I visited with her at her home only once, and she was baking cookies, something she evidently did a lot of for her family. She will be missed.
