He loved taking road trips to the coast to fish and just spend time alone near the ocean. He was a big family man, he enjoyed having all his grandchildren and children near him. He loved cooking out and making food for everyone on the grill. He was a humble man and everyone one that knew him loved him. He loved his coffee and sweet bread. He was a funny man, and it was rare that you held a conversation with him without laughing at one of his jokes. He was a lighthearted, loving man. He adored the love of his life for 66 years. He was the definition of unconditional love.

Eugene served in the armed forces as an infantry man during the Korean War where he was given the Purple Heart for his sacrifice to his country and countrymen. He was a very smart man when he was honorably discharged from the Army, he was one of the first people to start working on computers, he ran and managed computer sites on Kelly Air Force base and he did this without a college degree. He was a self-thought man and he believed in bettering your mind. He could tell you how many minutes were in a year and how many hours in a year and pretty much solve any equation you threw at him. He enjoyed playing dominoes and cards to pass the time and taught all his children how to do the same. He said it was a great way to keep your math skills up. HE will be greatly missed by all that knew him.
