“ Despite my heart being broken, I have so many great memories of my father. From him feeling bad about us pranking my husband (grand Marshall of 4th of July) to him holding his granddaughter. So many stories to be told, I would fill up this entire page. ❤️

“ I had the good fortune of having Fred work for me at mikes auto body. He was a great guy & one hell of a great technician. Trying to fill Fred's position after he moved away was not easy and went on for quite some time! When something went wrong on a job after he left, I would always say to myself, Fred would have never made that mistake, wish he was back. As Tom also quoted, he like to talk about his food. Thanksgiving meal talk went on for weeks, his bird was better then everyone else, because his wife cooked it upside down! Then the shop would bring up the question, how do you make béarnaise sauce and Fred would talk about the sauce all day. We liked to joke around with Fred all the time, just ask him a question that you already knew the answer to just so you could hear him answer the question & end it with "you didn't know that buddy?" Whenever Fred was back in town he would always stop by & bring pizza for the guys. He will be missed by all.

“ If you know my Dad, you won't be surprised by the fact that he was saying "it's about time, Eileen" as he walked me down the aisle. ❤️

“ Tried to think of what to say....pretty hard but I remember tagging along with Gail and Fred on a few dates. Aunt Marge and Uncle Ernie insisted it would be "no problem". I'm sure they felt otherwise.....Lots of years between then and when Fred would cook Lobsters for Marge, Ernie, Lu, Frank, Betty and Don!!! All filled with loving memories at the pool and family get parties!! Glad we had dinner on the Riverwalk and met at the Alamo!!! Beat them all in cards!!! Love always, Sue

I also worked with Fred, he was a excellent craftsman that took great pride in his work. I will always remember how much he loved food. He would talk about dinner everyday at lunch time. He will be missed.
