“ I'm so sorry I never got to meet Mr. Bohnert. From the remembrances he must have been a wonderful man. The family only recently moved in next door, and he was ill, so I only met Mrs. Bohnert briefly and her daughter Shannon. My condolences go out to the family. Your new neighbor, Teri Dykman

“ My PawPaw was the funniest and most entertaining man I've ever known. He loved to make his grandkids laugh and if he could also irritate his Mema in the process than even better! Hearing her laugh or fuss at him always brought a naughty twinkle to his eye. PawPaw also loved anything with wheels and I will never forget him taking me on a motorcycle rides downtown. We hit all his favorite places and he would show me where he grew up, met his love and took my Mema on dates when they were just barely teens. I'll miss hearing his laugh and his excitement over a day spent roaring down the road. Knowing that such a great love as he had for her was the foundation of our family makes me proud. I'll love him always.

“ Daddy, Thank you for loving and caring for me my whole life. Thank you for the fun, advice, fixing all my things. Thank you for my freckles, tenacity, and sense of humor. Thank you for kissing me goodnight every night until last week. I still feel you with me and all of us so I know you're not gone. You will kiss me goodnight again someday. Until then, in my heart and dreams. I love you DADDY!

“ The man, the myth, the legend! Most know you as Gary Delane Bohnert, but I call you Pawpaw! You were the best grandpa a grandson could ask for. Growing up you took me camping, boating, and on motorcycle rides. I always looked forward to coming to San Antonio as a kid and as an adult when I brought my wife and kids. You always provided such a warm and loving home for us and I have lots of memories to cherish. I know that you are riding a motorcycle through the hills of heaven! This is not a goodbye but a see you later.

Your favorite grandson and namesake,

Gary Delane Rodgers
