“ 2024...I now appreciate your fondness for cheese and crackers. Things are so hot now...you would hate it. I hope you 4 sisters are laughing now that you are all together. I still miss you. I wonder if I will ever think of you and not cry.

“ The pandemic is still here. I am glad you did not have to deal with all of this mess. I think I am going to retire. It will give me time to start going through all the stuff we accumulated. Sabor a Mi by Edie Gorme is in a new movie...it takes me back to you and Al Martin dancing. That was more than 50 years ago. Do you dance in heaven?

“ It's your 92nd birthday. This is the year of Covid19 and the Saharan dust. Those events keep me in the house. I do cheese and crackers, like you did. Happy birthday.

J S Svalberg - July 04, 2020 at 02:29 PM

“ I had a dream about you today. I woke up and looked for you. It seemed so real. When you were my age, you had me around to talk to. It seems unfair for you to not be here now. I want my friend back. Do you see me? Can't you send me a sign? I miss you.

“ J,
I know your mother had been ill for some time so much so that you changed your career to see to her needs. That says a lot about you and how you were raised. I'm sure you were a great comfort to her.

Accept my sympathetic condolences on her
