“ The memories I have of George started when I met Nicole his daughter and my best friend of the past 15 years who over time became more like a sister. They were family from day one. Nothing could break the bond we have. Even though George is no longer with us we will forever remember and hold the memories we have together close to our hearts. Nicole I pray knowing how much he loved you will bring you the peace you need to help you move forward

“ The memory I continuously come back to is when you taught me to swim 🏊 you gave me no mercy and threw me in that pool & told me to figure it out! It was one of the scariest yet best memories I have especially since there's so many adults my age that can't swim! You always taught us to be brave in everything we do 💪 Me & Nick were two peas in a pod as kids and the one thing I can promise you is that I'll always remind her to be brave when she feels like giving up or the days she thinks she can't continue! I will remind her of all the wisdom and love you poured into her as you raised her , even though we weren't "close" the love was always there. She won't be alone, I got her from here ❤️ rest easy knowing she'll be exactly who she's meant to be and always give her little signs that you're with her through this new journey she's going through!

“ The memory I remember is meeting George he was an amazing person and when you were upset or sad he was a good listener. George was more to his coworkers than a friend he was family. He would also help out whoever needed help, he will truly be missed 😭 Fly high George cuz u truly do deserve your angel wings 😇
