“ When I think about Georgia, I think about someone with a huge family...and it wasn't just biological. Her family consisted of her biological family, her neighbors, her coworkers, and her Coast friends. She loved everyone, And that was reciprocated by those she engaged with and opened her heart to. She loved people, and she loved to cook for them. There wasn't very many shifts at the bar where she did not bring food in for the customers, “she cared” and wanted people to know that. I know many will always remember the gatherings at Georgia and Eddie's house, parties at the bar, and gatherings at the coast... These memories will live on “just as Georgia spirit will”. She was a loving, giving and compassionate soul. Being missed, is a sure sign of a life “well lived” and a life “Well loved”. Georgia lived well and was well loved. To me she's the Caribbean Queenevery time we work together and I went to play music on the jukebox, she'd always told me to play Caribbean Queenshe would dance around and sing the song. The song seemed to transport her back to the beach. I know she's dancing on a heavenly beach now. Thank you my friend for being “you” and sharing your life with all of us. Debbie Newman

“ I have so many memories of and with Georgia. She kind of took me under her wing and was like a mom to me for many years. I moved away back in 2001 or 2002, and I haven't spoken with her, although through FB, I kept in touch with Jennifer up until a few years ago. I did get to meet Jennifer's husband and her two boys were so little, but I did meet them. I have missed Georgia all these years, and she has been in my thoughts and my heart throughout the years. She is a beautiful soul, and I hope the angels are showing her the ropes up there. I hope they know how special she is, and I'm sure it won't take long before she shows them. (Giggle). I am one of the many people who have been blessed by having her in my life for a time, and I am thankful for sure. God, take good care of your new angel for us down here, and I hope I get to see her again up in heaven.

*I love you Georgia Mae
