

Helen Smith Young Procter

August 14, 1922 - March 8, 2007

PROCTER

Helen Smith Young Procter, born August 14, 1922 in Montrose, Scotland, one of ten children, entered rest on March 8, 2007. She served as a leading aircraft woman, LACW, in the Royal Air Force during WW II where she met her husband, William S. Procter and came to America with him as a war bride. Helen raised her children in Uvalde. She was a member of NSSA and traveled the U.S., Hawaii, and Mexico playing tennis, playing her last game at age 83. We loved her laugh and the way she looked at life. She loved Syd, her children, grandchildren, all of her friends and the many people who called her granny, tennis, dancing, and knitting. Helen is survived by her husband, William S. Procter, daughters, Heather Edwards and husband Richard of this city and Cris Billiot and her husband Robert of Aransas Pass, son, Syd Procter Jr. of Sugar Land, sisters, Margaret Smith Brown of Brighton, England, and Mary Marjory Maclellan Murray of Thurso, Scotland, brother, Richard Milton Young of Montrose, Scotland, 10 grandchildren, 24 known great-grandchildren and numerous nieces and nephews.
