“ My father, our provider, my grandmas best friend. I never wanted to image this feeling but now your gone. I just don't know what to do. I miss you so much. The song you sang when you would wake up me and Gina. Gina Biankita with doo-doo in the morning will you get up will you wake up for me. Or how you made those delicious pancake for me and Meli and use the Aunt Jemima syrup bottle as a puppet and talk to us with it to calm us down. You were such a giving man. You raised my mom, us and had time for our kids. I love you so much your face and kindness and silly humor could never be forgotten. Bye papa

Even when me and Meli found out you weren't are real grandfather. We cried so much and held each other and you came to us and said. "Why are you crying? I am your real dad, and your mama. That was when mommy was in a stroke.

“ Grandpa, I can't believe you are gone. It's been so hard not being able to stop by with your favorite guilty pleasures; your Double Mint Gum, Tootsie Pops and Chamucos. You were part of our day and night. I found myself driving to you the other morning forgetting you are gone. It's so difficult that the boys will not watch Wrestling with you anymore. How grandma won't have you there to protect her and care for her the way you always did. You were such a gentleman. Your laugh and your presence is very missed. Your love and sacrifice will always be remembered.

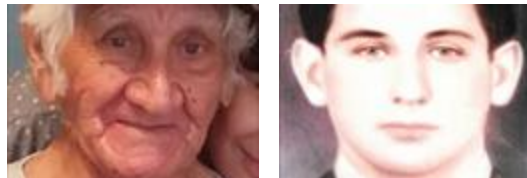

Love you always,
Gina
