“ Lee Dixon was the most honest businessman I have ever dealt with. I would never take my car to another body shop except Lee Dixon's Auto Center because he would never take advantage of you and never try to sell you something you didn't need for your car, which I had done for almost 20 years, and even when I left San Antonio, and when I visited, I still made it a point to take my car to his body shop. He was a class act and a gentleman in every sense of the word. I hope is resting happily in heaven, because that is where he rightfully belongs. May God bless his soul.

“ I live in Tacoma, WA, and I'm going through things my husband, Greg, and I collected over the years. Greg died in 2016 and I tackle this endeavor in chunks spread out over time. Tonight I came across this key fob and smiled as I remembered with love and great fondness Lee Dixon! He once saved me hundreds of dollars with a minor fix when a shop in Boerne quoted a huge job and costly estimate. Lee's honesty and integrity put him in a class by himself. For many years thereafter Lee was my only mechanic and I told my family and friends about him like I was spreading the Good News. But there was something more, too. Lee was wonderfully warm and genuine. He made me feel like family and I enjoyed talking with him whenever I waited for my car work to be finished. We shared about family (I remember him tearing up when we talked about his father who'd recently passed), RVing (Greg and I were buying an old Winnebago) and life. Lee was a beautiful human and I felt grateful for knowing him, even in the small way that I did. We moved to WA in 2008, and when I found this key fob tonight I was excited to reach out to Lee and say 'Hey' and ask if he'd retired and tell him I'm so grateful our paths crossed. But a quick online search told me Lee passed last month. My sincerest condolences go out to Deborah and the rest of the Dixon family for the loss of this beautiful man. I'm sorry I can't tell Lee how much his friendship and easy smile made my day brighter and even our limited interactions enriched me and are treasured memories. But I believe he knows now anyway...and my sweet Greg can tell him, too. Thank you, Dixon family, for sharing Lee with me and so many others. You'll be in my prayers.
