“ Jake was a very dear friend and co-worker. We fished, hunted, and work together as partners. As partners we would go on the road trips together to repair locomotives. A lot of times one of us would have to ride the locomotive and the other would have to drive along with the truck. The last time we went on a road trip, it was Jake's turn to ride the locomotive and I would follow along with the truck. This locomotive was in very bad shape, it had an oil leak and had been on fire, there was oil and grease all over it. Jake got so dirty and filthy, that he had to take off all his clothes to ride in the truck. He always said that I owe him big time for that trip.

We worked the night shift together for a lot of years, we always found time for a nap, but we had to look out for the Boss, we almost got caught a few times. I love working and being with Jake, he was the most fair and enjoyable person to be around. I sure God will reward him for being such a nice person..
