She was born in Lafayette, LA, on August 24, 1970, and moved to Texas with her family at age three. As a child, Jennifer developed a profound love for fantasy and science-fiction books and movies. As an adult, she achieved a degree in Object Oriented Programming and developed a long career in Computer Science. Throughout her life, Jennifer's main loves remained to be books, movies, friends, and family. She dedicated her life to living independently, fearlessly, and full of love. Nothing would get in her way to live the life she wanted.

Tips Mausoleum Chapel located at the rear of the Mission Burial Park North Dominion, 20900 IH 10 W, San Antonio, TX, 78257. A burial service will follow at the attached cemetery.

The family would like to extend love and gratitude to everyone who has supported them this past month. Jennifer will not be forgotten and is cherished as much in death as she was in life.

In the words of one of her many favorite songs: "In this life, things are much harder than in the afterworld. In this life, you're on your own. So, if the elevator tries to bring you down, go crazy. Punch a higher floor!"
