

Jesse P. Ibarra

September 1, 1940 - April 14, 2026

Jesse Ibarra, a man who lived by the code of the West and held his family as his north star, rode into his final sunset on the trails of grace. A true son of San Antonio, Jesse was born on September 1st, 1940, to Jose and Herlinda Ibarra. He spent his 85 years rooted in the Texas soil he loved, eventually settling in Bandera, TX where the air was a little clearer and the pace a little more to his liking.

Jesse dedicated his professional life to the City of San Antonio as a Personnel Investigator for the San Antonio Fire Department. He was a man of integrity and hard work, traits that mirrored his deep admiration for the legendary John Wayne. Much like the Duke, Jesse believed in doing what was right, standing tall, and looking after his own. He found his greatest peace in the quiet of the country, the strength of a good horse, and the timeless stories of old westerns that reminded him of a simpler, more honorable time.

On Valentine's Day in 1988, Jesse married the love of his life, Nancy Herrera Ibarra. Together, they built a life filled with "True Grit" and tender moments.

Jesse is greeted at the heavenly gates by his parents, Jose and Herlinda; his sisters, Herminia (Minnie) Ibarra, Yolanda Ibarra, and Herlinda (Linda) Rodriguez.

He leaves behind a vast and loving legacy. He is survived by his devoted wife, Nancy; his children, Jesse Ibarra (Rebecca), Lilia Sanders (Mike), Leticia Ibarra, Juanita Gonzalez (Luis), and Alejandro Ibarra (Patty); and his stepchildren, Michael Tellez (Linda), Susan Duarte (David), Donna Tellez, and Brenda Tetro (Roger). He also leaves behind his sisters, Olga Erlewein and Lilia Gonzalez, and his brother, Joe Ibarra (Mary Ellen).

His memory will live on through his 13 grandchildren, 9 great-grandchildren, and his faithful "furbaby" companion, Duke
