Jessie E. Smith born on August 10, 1942; went to be with the Lord on December 31, 2017; at the age of 75. Preceding her in eternity was her father Francis Theodore Townsend and Mother, Margaret Chessher Townsend, loving older sisters Joyce Ehrhart, Joanne Matyear, Nora Belzons, Gladys Roberts and brothers Theodore Townsend and Edward Townsend. Survivors include her daughters Lisa J. Dausin, Denise E. Sims and son R. Ted Felix, six granddaughters, two great-grandsons, as well as many other nieces, nephews, and loving family members and friends including companion James R. Smith.

Jessie was an incredible artist. She loved dogs, cats and especially horses from the time she was a small child. She was a beautiful ballroom dancer, competing in the 70s and 80s as well as a trainer for new dance instructors in those years. She was also a meticulous bookkeeper finding her niche in the apartment management business until her retirement in the early 90s. She loved music especially Mexican love ballads and the Standards. She was beautiful inside and out and will be missed tremendously.
