“ It was a true blessing being next door neighbors with Jesse and Esther for 22 years. Their love for each other and family showed in all of the celebrations they had throughout the years with loved ones. One of the fondest memories is the beginning of each Spring...the lawn chairs would come out and they would sit in the backyard for hours talking, laughing, and admiring their newly planted flowers. Conversations between us over the fence was a daily routine. Jesse would often knock on the back door with something delicious that Esther had cooked for us to enjoy. We kept in touch with Jesse after we moved and continued our friendship. He will always be a very special friend and remain in our hearts forever.

*Our sincere condolences to his children and siblings.
Love, Nell and Sharon*
