“ Our family and the Searsons attended Manor Baptist Church together; and there are a bunch of great memories. The one I'm going to share comes back to me every time I take kids on a campout. John was a faithful part of the team of dads who took all the kids camping twice a year. Just getting kids outside is magic, so the traditions we created around meals, hikes, marsh mellow roasts and "scary campfire stories" were just icing on the cake. But when all the kids were finally worn out and in their tents, and the campfire circle was quiet, John taught me the best time of the weekend: watching that fire slowly go out; enjoying the stars; enjoying being slow; easy conversation about nothing in particular. Just watching the fascinating things a fire will do, not being 'productive' or having anything required to happen; and enjoying laughter with a good friend. I had not done that before doing campouts with John; and now every time I do it again (often with my son; or even grandsons now) I think of John, and I smile.
Rest in His peace, dear friend.

“ My momma and her brothers are all together again. I have no memory of any holiday with him. He loved all the babies. My favorite memory of him, as an adult, is on the swing at Junction with Macy on one side and Nevaeh on the other. The girls were both sound asleep and he just kept swinging. One of my favorite pictures. He had an infectious smile. I am glad that is how I will remember him. Hug my momma for me Uncle Benny! My deepest condolences to Kathy and the girls and his wife Kay.
