“Jorge was a great guy and friend, he was always in a good mood and smiling, every time I stopped to talk to him he was always ready to make you laugh and I think that's the way he wanted to live his life stress free and happy. One night he came over to my home for a bbq along with other friends and my little sister was talking about using an app on her phone to locate spirits around the house and Jorge was like no way that works soon enough he had to eat his words because we started hearing voices and the look on Jorge's face was priceless he was honestly freaking out but laughing which mad everyone else laugh that night he didn't want to touch the phone because he didn't want anything to follow him home. Now that's a memory of Jorge I will remember forever just smiling and laughing the way he lived life. You will be greatly missed my friend.
