“ Some of my fondest memories in San Antonio were as simple as throwing the football around in the parking lot with you Joe. I treasured every night meeting up after our shift to talk about our day and re-enacting our favorite tv shows of our past time. I already miss our conversations both the silly and profound. Introducing you to Korean BBQ and seeing the pure joy on your face when I gave you giant box of NES games before I moved are still vivid and clear in my mind and I will never forget it. Rest in Peace my friend.
