“ After a year of college, I returned to San Antonio, where I found myself in a IBM 360 Assembler Programming class at San Antonio College with Joe. He had superior aptitude with programming, and I believe he was already working in the computer field while I was in class with him. We were friends in high school, and I offer condolences to his mother, wife, and brother. He was a great guy, and I am glad I knew him. -Tim Fulcher.
