“ I met Joe thirty-three years ago at CPS Energy (Salvage) during my time at Salvage Joe taught me how to make rice, pinto beans, caldo and carne guisada. Of course, mine never turned out like his. I think about how he would laugh when I would come into work that Monday telling him how my rice was not cooked our my beans didn't have that flavor like his. I told him that my rice doesn't turn out good because I didn't have a molcajete like him. Guess What... he gave me my own molcajete.

My thoughts and prayers are with you all.

“ Joe R. Martinez; husband, father, grandfather, brother and uncle taught us all some valuable life lessons. A couple of these are how to love your family, friends and people and how to enjoy your life. What made Tio Joe unique was his one of a kind personality, his personal charm and his friendly down to earth style. All of these traits easily captured your heart and surrounded your soul. Tio Joe kept no secrets because from him you learned, and he would outright tell you, how to make the best BBQ, which restaurants were good and even what tacos to order. Tio Joe even shared his trick to make the perfect pinto bean. Yes, all who knew him can honestly say that Tio Joe could talk the talk and walk the walk. And yes again, Joe R. Martinez was the real deal.

Thank you Tio Joe.
