“ The photo below was taken at work in Joe's cubicle Monday, November 18, 1985. The Chicago Bears, my favorite team had just played Joe's favorite team, the Dallas Cowboys, the previous day. My friend Joe and I made a bet that the loser would have to wear the opposing team jersey and hat the next day for the entire work day.

I worked at my drafting table sitting across the room from Joe's cubicle for two years and 8 months. He taught me a lot about civil engineering drafting and he was also very funny and would make the work day go by very quickly. Today I was searching Facebook and found the Dannenbaum Engineering page. I thought of Joe and searched his name and location on Google. Sadly I discovered Joe's obituary. I regret that we didn't keep in touch with each other over these many years. The day I left Dannenbaum I remember the last person I said good bye to was Joe. I thanked him for helping me and said I would miss him.

My condolences to his family. I'm sure that Joe was a wonderful husband, Father and Grandfather. I miss you my friend. RIP Joe.
