“ It’s already been a year that you’ve been gone. I can’t believe it. It’s so quiet here without you in the house, Grandpa. Nena always brings you up when something reminds her of you. I can tell she misses you a lot even though she doesn’t really show it. I miss you a lot too. I wish I would’ve stayed by your side longer when you were still here. I regret not spending that much time with you. I remember so many memories. You used to spoil me rotten. I remember when I was a little girl, you bought me chickens. I was so happy. Then, I we brought Daisy into the house you let me keep her. You acted like you didn’t like her, but I could tell you were just joking. You always thought of other people before you thought of yourself. That’s why I looked up to you. There’s so many things I’d like to tell you and I wish you would’ve stayed longer to see me grow up. In the last few months you were here, it was so hard. Alzheimer’s is such a terrible, ugly thing. I wish it didn’t exist. I’m glad you’re at peace now though. I knew it was really hard for you when you would have those episodes and not remember anything. I can’t imagine how that felt. It broke my heart to see you like that. We all miss you so much. Thank you for being a great grandpa and dad to my mom and aunt. We love you so much

“ Johnny, I so sorry I did not come see you before you passed. You and Irene were like a second set of parent's to me. I loved you both with all of my heart. When we moved back from Arizona, I used to act like I was sick, every once in awhile just to get to come over and spend the day with Irene. And you would buy me ice cream when you got home from work. You both taught me so much, I felt like I had 2 homes right next door to each other. Till we meet again, all my love Shelby
