After retiring he became bored and went to work for Hicks Flooring, Auto Zone, and Quick Wash Laundromat., Dad was a humble and quite man who worked hard to support his family. He so loved all of his grandchildren and enjoyed watching them grow often attending their many school activities. Dad enjoyed our family gatherings and was lovingly referred to by his many nephews and nieces as Uncle J or Tio J. He was a lifelong liberal democrat with a strong sense of social justice and was elected to serve as the first labor union president for Fredrick Refrigeration. The right to vote was very important to dad and made sure that he and our mother voted in all elections. Our GRAN HOMBRE will be missed by all who knew and loved him.
