“ Mr. and Mrs. Casarez, so sad you too are gone but not surprised. The love you two had for each other was eternal to the point that if one goes the other will follow of a broken heart. I remember talking to you Mrs. Casarez almost every day at Columbia Heights Elementary. The talks we had I will forever hold in my heart. I would tell her that their marriage inspires me to love my wife and hope one day I too celebrate a 50 year anniversary. It won't be the same without you two in my life. Though they were not my family, I did see Mrs. Casarez like my own grandmother and I felt my grandma was there Everytime I would run into Mrs. Casarez. To the Casarez family, I am so deeply sorry. Losing one loved one is very hard and to lose two loved ones; I can't imagine how it feels. But rest assured they are in a better place together once again with no pain no sorrow just happiness and love. Don't be sad. For they are still in our hearts always until us too go and again get to be with them. But for now remember the memories you had with them, the lessons that til this day we learn from them, and the love that was shown from them. Yours truly, Jose "Joe" Rodriguez and wife Crystal Rodriguez

“ Mrs Casarez was a grandparent who always helped out at Columbia Heights. I met her during the time the school was being rebuilt. That was around 1999. She was always helping my neighbor Miss Siebert, who was also a first grade teacher. Mrs. Casarez was always kind, considerate, and helpful. I don't believe I ever heard her say no to anyone or anything at school. I admired the way she took care of her granddaughters, family, and students. I guess you could say she is heavens gain and our loss. Mrs. Casarez will be missed and so will her sidekick, Mr. Casarez. My condolences to Debbie Casarez and family. You were all blessed to have such wonderful parents/in-laws/grandparents. Thank you for sharing them both at Columbia Heights! 🙏🙏🙏
