

Julia M Murray

January 12, 1930 - January 17, 2014

Beloved Mom, "Engie" passed away on Friday, Jan. 17, 2014, just three days past her 84th birthday. She was preceded in death by her beloved husband, Sam R. Murray Jr. and her mother, Lena Myers Dalga. During the course of her life Julia was a devoted, wife, mother, and daughter. Her Grandfather was Julius Myers, "The Last Town Crier" in the United States. He rode around daily on the streets of San Antonio on his horse, "Tootsy" while announcing attractions and news on his megaphone. Julia was so proud of her grandfather! During her teen years, she danced for the USO, wearing colorful costumes. In addition, she was a member of Temple Beth El, utilizing her wonderful cooking skills, she planned many Sisterhood meals. While juggling her busy schedule, she was also a keen business woman, handling two farms that her ancestors have owned for at least a hundred years. Julia assisted and supported her husband in his career at KCOR the first Spanish language radio station in the U.S. She always was willing to assist family and friends in need, in addition, she loved gardening, created beautiful needlework and crochet. During her later years, she even volunteered to work for her local fire department's fundraising activities.

Julia is survived by her two daughters and sons-in-law, Julie and Michael Fleming, Deborah and Peter Koepp. Grandchildren, Jennifer Towne and husband, Nathan Towne, Peter Koepp and wife, Shannon, Michael T. Fleming, Natalie and husband James Murray. Great grandchildren include Shane and Katelyn Towne, Tyler and Audrey Koepp. She is also survived by her cousin,

Jon Meyer, nephew Edward Lee, and niece, Barbara Marshall.
