“ My sincerest thanks goes out to Kay for continually encouraging me to go through with starting my business and for all the help she gave throughout the process. I still have the old sewing machine she gave me when I needed to work on some projects, and when I use it I will think back on her generosity with fondness. My love goes out to her family.

“ I was fortunate to have traveled with Kay and Ken several times. On one of our outings, we went down to Eagle Pass to give the casino our hard earned money. The highway literally ends at one point and you have to decide rather to turn left or right. Kay was the navigator and she & GPS insisted we should turn left. I supported her because that's what back seat cousins do! Ken believed we should turn right. Unfortunately he was out voted and we turned left. After listening to Kay trying to explain to the Mexican authorities how we came to be in Mexico, they eagerly agreed to let us go and pointed us in the right direction. This was the direction Ken had proposed in the beginning. Kay and I set there quietly as Ken drove with a smile he couldn't wipe off his face. Over the years we laughed numerous times recalling our encounter with the Mexican police.
