

Kay N. Clark

November 21, 1957 - December 9, 2022

Kay Clark, 65, gained her wings December 9, 2022, with family and friends by her side in San Antonio, TX.

She was born in Dallas, TX and moved to San Antonio where she met and married Clarence Clark.

She found a church home and was an active member of Bright and Morning Star Baptist Church. She was also an active and generous contributor to A Recovery Place, Inc.

Kay loved her dogs, gardening and her plants. Most of all, she loved spending time with family and friends. She had a servant's heart and would help anyone in need. Her sense of humor was infectious and when she laughed, her eyes twinkled.

Kay is survived by her husband Clarence Clark, sister Sandra Sanchez, and friends whom she considered family.

She is preceded in death by her son, Trey Blanton; her parents Charlene Herford and Andy Kerr; her sister Dixie L. Gardisky; her brothers Jimmie A. Craig, David K. Craig, Michael D. Craig, and Jerry R. Kerr.

“ There was no one more caring and thoughtful than our mama KK. She was feisty and didn't mess around, it was all out of love. Proceeded and death by her son Trey Blanton, who she never wanted forgotten. Truly unique Mama KK will be remembered and missed always. Our family will share stories and memories of her throughout the years to come. What a blessing to have known this beautiful soul and be blessed with the memories we shared together. Praise the Lord.

“ I will miss my girl. Her jokes, her laugh, her heart--tough but tender, and always loving.

“ In 2002, Kay and Clarence welcomed me with open arms and warm hearts to the neighborhood when I was dating my husband, who lived next door. Kay had a great sense of humor, shared funny stories about my husband’s life as a kid and so many other wonderful memories. She was fun to be with. We will miss her very much.

Clarence, we love you and are here for you.

Love, Archie and Diane Milligan

“ My first memory of Kay is when they brought her home from the hospital I still have never seen a baby with such beautiful dark hair
