“ Craig's Dad was one of small number of my friend's parents that I had truly interesting conversation beyond the usual small talk. Mr. Dean's experiences and his occupation held in the 80's when I knew him had a direct influence on my career path. My recollection is that Mr. Dean was one of the great Dads, and he never seemed to mind too much when Craig and I tried a little too hard to behave like stupid young men.
