“ I worked with Leo when he was a Supervisor in the Oil Section of PPRD (Petroleum Products Research Department) in Bldg. 171. Although there were not many interactions between our separate work areas, Leo gave me an impression of being a very responsible leader. He was always calm with a gentleman's demeanor. His fond of motorcycle riding is always my envy. Rest in peace, Leo, and have great fun riding your beloved motorcycle in Heaven.

“ Leo was such a sweet friend. I loved all his text messages sharing pictures of his poodles Thor and Gia. He really loved those dogs! They were his babies.

“ I worked with Leo when he was in the Diesel section for many years and always found him to be a great person to work with. I remember when it snowed and we pushed his old car out of the parking lot at Bld 142. And another time in the middle of the night when he left our old oil charger going way to long, what a cleanup. Rest in Peace my friend. Carl Brown
