“ I would often go over to Marks' house after school. We would play stupid games and one of them was jumping off his roof. It was the tuff guy club and the final object was to get to the apex of the roof and jump from there. We finally did it, and without broken bones. We used to tie a string to 2 trash can lids and stretch it across the road at the ditch so that a car would hit the string and pull the lids up behind it making a huge clatter. One last story, we were out at night walking down his street and a truck came flying by from behind us. There were teens in the back of the truck and they threw eggs at us as hard as they could. An egg whizzed right by my ear and one hit Mark in the back sending him flat on the ground. He could barely breathe, it was very scary. I went and got his mom and he had a huge purple welt on his back. Mitch went out to find them and for their sake, I hope he never did.

“ When the Meyer cousins got together for our annual Christmas gathering we played hard. On the surface this may look like your typical Christmas family photo but look a little closer. Our grandparents lived near the construction site of what is now McAllister freeway. Mark lead the charge. We snuck a few blocks over to fresh dirt embankments at the construction site and slid down them on card board. It was great fun. Notice the dirty knees on the front row. Mark wore a baseball size hole into the left knee of his pants. We thought we could hide this excursion from our parents, but come photo time Aunt Betsy said, “Mark your pants! Where did you get that hole?” Upon which, Mark shrugged, crossed his arms and covered his left knee. The Meyer cousins cracked up and this photo was captured.
RIP Mark. Much love, Mike

“ *Sydney and Betsy,
Your father and I have been friends since as long as I can remember. My dad and his dad were fraternity brothers so our families have grown up together since our childhood days. Your father was such a blast to be around in any environment. I have so many memories hanging out with him every summer day on Mt. Riga and Mt. Marcy streets. He had a personality that was contagious. You wanted to be around him because you just knew you'd be making memories. I will cherish those and I will always remember your dad with a big grin and a few jokes to tell. He was so proud of you both. May God Bless you both and the entire Meyer family.*

“First, may God shine His perpetual light upon Mark, and blessings and prayers for the Meyer family.

My family moved to San Antonio in 1976 and I attended the middle school grades 6-8 at Holy Spirit and we both graduated from Churchill in 1982. At Holy Spirit Mark was one of the first people to befriend me. Mark was always one of the cool kids and even received the nickname 'The Fonze' after the Winkler biker character from Happy Days. We played on the school's basketball and baseball teams, and Mark even recruited me to play in a tennis tournament even though I had never played tennis, didn't know how to serve, didn't own a racket or have decent tennis shoes. But he spent the time to give me a crash course in tennis. I can remember going over to his house before baseball practice and he would make everyone chocolate shakes. Mark was very athletic and we had some very successful teams. In middle school I was very spontaneous and not always in a good way. One day our 8th grade class was taking a field trip to San Jose Mission. and after awhile I became bored. I told Mark that my paternal grandmother lived nearby and that I wanted to walk over to see her. Mark said it was bad idea and tried to convince me not to do it, but he could not. But Mark said he would accompany me so that I would not be walking by myself. After getting chased by German Shepherds we made it to my grandmother's front door only to have my grandmother tell me I had better get my butt back to the Mission. Mark said I told you so and so we headed back to San Jose where we barely made it back before the bus left to go back to Holy Spirit.

Two things that always stood out about Mark was that he was very genuine, and that he told great stories. Even though sometimes we thought he might be embellishing on some of the details Mark always told the best stories. Mark was a die-hard Aggie fan and wore his Aggie heart on his sleeve and bled maroon and white. Since I was a UT fan we always participated in some good-natured gamesmanship contingent on who won the Thanksgiving Day showdown that year. I can remember in November 1976 the Aggies put a 27-3 beat down on Texas, in Austin, and when I was walking into the classroom that morning Mark started singing "Hullabaloo Caneck Caneck" and the entire Aggie War Hymn. After high school I would run into Mark at parties occasionally and it was always great to talk to him especially when he was telling a story. I am sure he is up there in Heaven telling more great stories. Rest In Peace Mark.

“ What can you say about Mark? Reminds me of the “Sound of Music” song “What can you say about Maria?” “Maria makes me laugh” Mark was fun loving, full of life, and loved everyone, especially his daughters and his family. “Many a thing you would like to tell her, many a thing she ought to understand” but Mark marched to his own drummer and worked many jobs all with the attitude how can I help this company. “How do you hold a moonbeam in your hand.” Mark touched many lives during his life and lifted their day. He will truly be missed.

“ I remember Mark vividly from our high school days. He was adorable, kind, gentle and friendly. We had a few classes together and I thought he pretty much hung the moon as an awkward 14 year old girl. He was always kind, and gentlemanlywhich stood out dramatically at that age! I have thought of him so many times they the years as I look back he truly made my world a better place in those sometimes brutal days of high school. He was a wonderful young man. Wish I could've known him as an adult, though I have no doubt he rocked that too! 💙 I send my prayers for Marks family, and my thanks to the Father for Mark's life and legacy of love. 💙

“ Dear Family of Mark,
Please accept my condolences on the loss of precious Mark. I graduated from Churchill with Mark. He was always very kind and he had a special way of listening. He gave you his full attention. I pray to our Lord for his peace, and for yours as well. May God rest Marks soul.

“ I'll be honest.... growing up, I didn't know Mark very well... I was of the youngest group of kids who populated the Mt. Riga-to-Haltown periphery. Mark was a year older, and as I grew to be a "tweenager," I was VERY aware of how cute he was! We didn't run in the same circles of friends in school, but I'll always remember his smile, tan, and blond hair. He was a sweet boy. I wish I had known him better. Condolences and prayers for the Meyer family and all of Mark's friends. Gone too soon.

“ Missy,

Please share with Marks' girls how significant he was in my life and all his other friends. Mark introduced me to Susan and set us up on our first date; he made possible the greatest blessing in my life; My Family.

Before Ferris Bueller; there was Mark Meyer. I have only wonderful memories of Mark and sadly lost contact with him after I discouraged him from making some life decisions.

He always professed to me his love and admiration for you and how you filled the role of mother to him when Betsy passed.

Mr. Meyer and Mitch,

Mark loved, respected and idolized you both and tried to put your mentoring and life lessons into his actions.

I've missed him for a long time.

When we moved to SA/Mt Riga next door to the Meyers, Mark was in the 1st grade. We were there for 12 years so watched Mark grow up. Because Betsy and Gay sort of adopted our family we felt that they were all part of our family. Probably saw Mark every day all those years. He was a charmer! My son reminded me today that everytime Mark would see me he would sing "Marge, you're breaking my heart". (which I didn't know was a VanHalen reference). When I think of Mark I think of him as that kid shooting baskets in his driveway every day with those purple shorts on. Very sad to know that he is gone. I'm sure he is back in Betsy's arms.
