Above all else, Oona was a devoted and fiercely proud mother. Her two sons, Jordan Ryan Garcia and Julian Christian Rangel, were the center of her world and the driving force behind everything she did. She worked diligently so her boys could grow up in a loving, secure home filled with opportunity. One of her greatest sources of pride was knowing that her sons could come to her with any problem, concern, or good news and always receive understanding, honesty, and unconditional love.

Oona attended Providence High School and went on to graduate from the University of Texas at San Antonio. She dedicated her professional career to serving as a proud teacher for SAISD.

Oona loved creating lasting memories for her sons and planning trips and outings including Disney, road trips to football games, and cherished local traditions like San Antonio's Fiesta events.

Oona was a lifelong animal lover, with a particular tenderness for the stray dogs and cats throughout San Antonio. She carried deep concern for all animals and never hesitated to show compassion, whether through care, advocacy, or simple acts of kindness. Her empathy for animals reflects her compassionate and caring spirit.
