“ When Richard was in his early 30’s he came home one evening a bit tipsy. That evening happen to be New Years Eve. We live on Tulipan street in the Alazan Apache Courts which provided every resident a giant heater in the living room. Well Richard got home and put a box on top of the heater. Richard went to his room and fell asleep. My grandma would never let us kids wake up Richard for any reason. My cousin Rosa,Robert, Junior,Pete, and myself noticed it was firecrackers in the box and kept wanting to wake up Richard. Finally my grandma Lydia got tired of us asking and asked why do you want to wake him up? We said because of the firecrackers in the box on the heater we want to pop some. My grandma ran and took the box and threw it outside just in time before the firecrackers started popping. The heater was on. The kids of course thought that was hilarious and we reminded him of that night every New Year’s Eve.

“ Even though we had not seen Uncle Richard in years we loved him and missed him. We kept in touch with him and Socoro over the years. Always asking about our boys and telling us how proud they were of them. His beautiful soul is now with his wonderful wife Socoro with our Lord in heaven. Our condolences to the rest of the family our thoughts and prayers are with you. Love Chris, Lily, Christopher and Sonny.
