“ My father lived by today's standards an unremarkable life; he was a quiet man and served the church, his family, and his friends. I stand here today so proud to call all of you my family.

As far as an unremarkable life i say NO. His life was a good one, to me he was a remarkable man born and grew up to be a good son, became a man and served his country and was a good soldier, met my mother and became a devoted and loving husband, gave birth to a son, a daughter and a son of special needs and was a good father. He has always been there for us and to me he was a good man and to me that is remarkable by today's standards.

I leave the living with this poem:

*Thank you Lord for the family we are born into;
Thank you for the family we find along the way;
May we pray, cherish every moment, every love, every morning and reflect;
Let us be thankful for you have given us a life to live;
Thank you for being my father carrying my to the water and helping me drink.*

*Why should I wish to see God better than this day?
I see something of God each hour of the twenty-four, and each moment then,
In the faces of men and women I see God, and in my own face in the glass,
I find letters from God dropt in the street, and every one is sign'd by God's name,
And I leave them where they are, for I know that wheresoe'er I go,
Others will punctually come for ever and ever.”*

Parting is all we need of heaven;

I wish I had known your father I can feel how wonderful he was and that he was always always the very best he could be and was a truly decent human being and a gift to all mankind and animals too . I could feel his great faith and his spirit that was all encompassing ... I too had a father like that who was a real inspiration and I thank you for your lovely poem and I wish you well , you and all your family .
