

Rosita P. Taguam

April 6, 1924 - January 30, 2007

Taguam

Rosita P. Taguam, born on April 6, 1924 in Labrador, Pangasinan, The Republic of the Philippines, passed away on January 30, 2007. Our mom proudly served as a Commissioned Nurse Officer with the rank of Captain during WWII in the Philippines. She moved to Washington, D.C. where she worked at Georgetown University Hospital. She was married and later moved to San Antonio, where she worked at Methodist, The State Chest and other area hospitals as staff R.N. and anesthetist. She owned the Plaza Steak House, located at the Hemisfair Plaza, frequented by the Spurs. Rosie was a generous and well-loved leader who played a key role in the advancement of Filipino culture in the San Antonio community. Her husband Roman F. Taguam precedes her in death. Her son, Jack V. Taguam and wife Emily, sisters, Adoring Ayson, Iluminada Fernandez, brothers, Borromeo, Virgilio, Ranulfo, Hilario Jr. and Manuel Parras, and numerous nieces and nephews survive her. Donations in her honor may be sent to P.N.A.S.A. or the Santo Niño Catholic Church
