“ To my cousins Roy and Amber, I am so incredibly sorry for your loss.

During one of your Grandpa's hospital stays, I was working on the same floor. When I saw his name while we were pulling medications, I immediately went to his room to see him. He wasn't my patient, but the smile on his face when he saw me meant everything.

I kept checking on him and making sure he was comfortable. I remember apologizing to him for anything that wasn't going smoothly. I just wanted him to feel cared for. On his last visit, he laughed and told my aunt Yvonne and grandma Bea that I checked on him more than his own nurse. That memory will always stay with me.

After losing his wife and his son, my heart just aches knowing how much he carried. I hope he is finally at peace, reunited with the love he missed so deeply.

He will always have a special place in my heart.
