“ My dad was a phenomenal father, grandfather, husband, and loyal friend to many. He had a dry sense of humor, a hearty laugh, boundless compassion, an uncanny ability to fix anything around my house, and a deep knowledge of the world (he was my Siri before there was a Siri). Mostly, though, he was known for his crazy stories to make your stomach hurt from laughing.. He cared deeply for his grandchildren, I was there to kiss his cheeks and massage his forehead, to hold his hand and say goodbye. I was at his bedside when he took his last breath.
And yet, nothing prepared me for this loss....

Dad, I have you to blame for my sense of humor, my occasional temper, my love for oldies and so many other things that I both love and dislike about myself. I guess, now, I can only love them because they remind me of you. Your love, your patience, your understanding, your wisdom and your amazing sense of humour will live on inside us all forever. You have given us gifts that are more precious than anything in this world. You will always live on in my heart. It's temporary good-bye for now till we meet up again with our loving Savior
