“Sandy was a best friend of over 30 years. We met working at a telemarketing company. I have come to the realization that she is the only friend who I didn't feel the need to wear a mask for. I could always be myself and be honest about what I was going through. I have many wonderful memories with Sandy. She introduced me to Cake and The Mighty Mighty Bosstones and would jam out to "I Will Survive" on repeat. She and the family would always make my daughter and I feel most welcome to family events. There is so much more I could say but I will leave with this favorite poem....

For Grief

*When you lose someone you love,
Your life becomes strange,
The ground beneath you gets fragile,
Your thoughts make your eyes unsure;
And some dead echo drags your voice down
Where words have no confidence.
Your heart has grown heavy with loss;
And though this loss has wounded others too,
No one knows what has been taken from you
When the silence of absence deepens.
Flickers of guilt kindle regret
For all that was left unsaid or undone.*

*There are days when you wake up happy;
Again inside the fullness of life,
Until the moment breaks
And you are thrown back
Onto the black tide of loss.*

*Days when you have your heart back,
You are able to function well
Until in the middle of work or encounter,
Suddenly with no warning,
You are ambushed by grief.*

*It becomes hard to trust yourself.
All you can depend on now is that
Sorrow will remain faithful to itself.
More than you, it knows its way
And will find the right time
To pull and pull the rope of grief
Until that coiled hill of tears
Has reduced to its last drop.*

*Gradually, you will learn acquaintance
With the invisible form of your departed;
And, when the work of grief is done,
The wound of loss will heal
And you will have learned
To wean your eyes
From that gap in the air
And be able to enter the hearth
In your soul where your loved one
Has awaited your return
All the time.*

“ I knew her husband Jason who I use to work with. All I know is that Sandra his wife would always wait for him after work and she was always so nice and her husband would always tell me how wonderful she was and that she was irreplaceable.

“ I met Sandra through my husband. He was her teacher at Leal Middle School when she was in the eighth grade. She found us through our business when she and Jason, her husband, were stationed in Germany. When they finally came back to the USA we had dinner with them numerous times. She was a great friend to have. I saw her as a very intelligent and lovely woman. May she rest in peace.

“ My cousin Sandy was a kind, loving, giving person. She was a wonderful Godmother to my daughter whom she adored. Sandy will be missed dearly and always will be remembered as the fun uplifting beautiful spiritual person she was. Love you Sandy and it's not goodbye it's see you later, Eva and family.
