“ I had hopes of seeing Ms. Patterson (as I used to know her) again one day, but time took her from this world way to soon! Susie (aka Vivian) and I were best friends in Jr. High school, and we lived across the street from each other in Calvert. One day after school, I found my grandma on the porch, on the floor. She had fallen and broke her hip. My parents had gone out shopping and were away for hours. My poor grandma was in such pain and I, a young teenager at the time, didn't know what to do. Ms. Patterson came quickly to our house to help. I don't remember much of the details, but I do remember that the ambulance came (I think Ms. Patterson called them), and the medics picked up my grandma. I remember crying uncontrollably because every time they moved my grandma she would scream with pain. Ms. Patterson hugged me the whole time and assured me that everything would be ok. I will never forget that day. I am so grateful for her help, and how she made me feel by comforting me. God bless you Ms. Patterson. I love you and look forward to seeing you in heaven, along with sweet little Patty Boy!

“ Sarah comforted me so many times when Briana was little and Tony and I were still learning how to be adults. She was the kindest, most positive, loveliest soul...she and Margie, Art, John, EVERYONE welcomed me with open arms and it mattered so much that my youngest daughter is named Sarah in part after her and I wish she could have known her. All of the Skifters and Anastas's welcomed me with open arms and I'll forever love all of you ❤️
