

Shelly Anne Sheldon Bromley

February 22, 1958 - June 18, 2009

Shelly Sheldon Bromley

Shelly Sheldon Bromley was born as Shelly Anne Sheldon on February 22, 1958 in San Antonio, Texas. She went to Thomas Jefferson High School and graduated in 1976 with honors. She went to Southern Methodist University and graduated in 1978 with honors. She received her masters degree in 1979 with honors in speech pathology from Southwest Texas State University. Shelly began her 30 year career as a speech therapy teacher in San Antonio public schools working with children, many of them special needs children. She was a loving and compassionate teacher; it was one of the great joys of her life. She was a lifelong member of University United Methodist Church and volunteered in the special needs ministry. Shelly died in San Antonio on June 18, 2009 after a long struggle with a debilitating illness. She is survived by her husband, Rocky Bromley; daughter, Rebecca Bromley; sister, Wendy Rigby; father, George Sheldon; nephews, Travis Rigby and Nicolas Bromley; niece, Amanda Rigby; brothers-in-law, Jan Rigby, Ernest Bromley, Dr. Jim Bromley and Randy Bromley ; sister-in-law, Aimee Bromley and mother-in-law Leticia Bromley. Shelly was a friend to everyone she met. Her legacy shall live in the student hearts of the thousands she touched in her career as a teacher and mentor.
