Together with her husband they were business owners of Prosperity Cleaners and she was a skilled seamstress for all of her life. They also were antique dealers for 25 years and traveled to different towns in Texas as antique dealers.

They were a great team together working side by side everyday. During her last 6 years as a dialysis patient she remained strong willed everyday no matter how difficult her treatments would be for her. Her goal was to simply make it to the next day to be with her family and friends and to attend church services on Sunday. She is now resting eternally without any pain or suffering.
